

10 good reasons to join Airport Regions Conference

- ARC is the leading European representative organisation for cities and regions with major airports and is as such recognised as a political stakeholder.
- ARC members represent more than 30 cities and regions from 19 countries and the organisation continues to grow. Our members represent about 70 percent of all European regions with airports handling more than 10 million passengers.
- ARC has a Representative Office in Brussels to inform and promote ARC to the European Commission and to other European institutions and the aviation industry. This office also provides ARC members with a platform to support member activities and projects.
- ARC monitors air transport policy development in Europe on behalf of its members.
- ARC provides a network of expertise for policy development on key topics for airport regions.
- ARC produces a wide range of studies on topics including economic growth and innovation, transport structures, spatial planning and land use, and environmental effects.
- ARC provides a global network of contacts with similar organisations.
- ARC stimulates cooperation between members through a stable network of regions with similar structures and who face similar challenges.
- ARC informs members on how EU policy may affect local policies.
- ARC informs European institutions about the effect of aviation on the cities and regions in Europe.

8 opinions about ARC

Alain Leikine, Vice-President,
Val-d'Oise County Council,
Paris Ile-de-France Region

"Through the work with other European airport regions we can better face economic as well as environmental challenges linked with the presence of an important airport platform on our territory."

Marc Thomas,
Administrator, European Commission,
Air Transport Directorate

"The ARC QLAIR project aims to promote different ways of reconciling airports with their surroundings, which is a crucial issue. This is why the Commission's Community Observatory on airport capacity is assessing this important initiative."

David McMillan,
Director General,
Eurocontrol

"We believe that ARC's expertise as an interface between air transport and local and regional policies will pay dividends."

Agneta Granberg, Councillor,
City of Gothenburg

"For our region ARC has been an important bridge in establishing relationships with several other airport regions in Europe. We share the knowledge and experiences of one another when developing our own region in relation to the airport, for instance concerning business relationships and environmental issues."

Derek Whittington,
Cabinet Member for Strategic Planning and
Transport, West Sussex
County Council

"A unique opportunity to learn about best practice across Europe in managing communities with airports."

Olivier Jankovec,
Director General,
ACI Europe

"ARC is doing great work in encouraging and supporting better cooperation between airports and their local communities."

Heiko Kassekert, Director Frankfurt/
Rhine-Main Conurbation Planning
Association

"Being a member of ARC is to benefit from this leading European organisation for airport regions by getting information about the latest developments of relevant EU policies on the one hand and by having the opportunity to influence these policies on the other hand."

Grzegorz Kostrzewa-Zorbas,
Chairman, Committee on
Strategy of Development,
Mazovia Regional Parliament

"ARC promotes advanced and efficient solutions with high environmental and social standards in air and multimodal transport."
